

Message from the Superintendent

We are a community that believes—fundamentally—that each child and each person is the equal of every other.

This belief cuts across race, nationality, immigration history, religion, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, economic means, ability status, language, and age. When we are at our best, we celebrate diversity, embrace our differences, and build on each others' strengths.

We believe strongly in social justice, which means we fight against systemic oppression. We stand up for those who are vulnerable and hope others will do so for us when we need them. We put students' needs first, and we will protect them now.

These core values connect us every day. Let's find ways to move forward together, in unity and in strength.

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Myong Leigh". The signature is fluid and cursive, with the first name "Myong" being larger and more prominent than the last name "Leigh".
